What is the Research Service?

The Research Service is part of the National Assembly for Wales based in Tŷ Hywel, Cardiff Bay. We are completely independent of the Welsh Government.

We provide expert and impartial research and information to support Assembly Members and the committees in fulfilling the scrutiny, legislative and representative functions of the Assembly. We are policy and information specialists from a variety of professional backgrounds with substantial experience in both the policy areas we work in and the operation of the Assembly.

The Research Service works within the Assembly Business Directorate, which provides specialist parliamentary support to all 60 Assembly Members to ensure the efficient and effective conduct of business.

The Research Service consists of:

- four research teams providing specialist advice on specific areas of policy
- a research team providing finance and statistical information
- a research team providing advice on the Assembly, the constitution, UK and EU legislation, elections and referendums
- a Library providing a full range of reference and information services

We also work with the Assembly's EU Office in Brussels which provides Assembly Members with advice, information and assistance on EU issues including support with visit programmes.

How do we support Assembly Members?

- We provide research briefings and expertise to support Assembly Members in the scrutiny of legislation and policy
- We provide briefings to support Assembly Members in committee
- We answer enquiries connected with Plenary or committee business and with constituency work as part of our confidential and impartial enquiry service
- We provide research support to Assembly Members in developing and bringing forward proposals for legislation
- We produce a range of proactive research outputs to help contribute to open and well informed debate.

What do we publish?

Our publications are compiled principally for the benefit of Assembly Members, but we make these publicly available wherever possible via our internet pages. Print copies are available from the Library.

Research papers analyse current issues relevant to the Assembly providing a balanced overview to aid scrutiny or debate.

Research notes cover topics of current interest in a concise and accessible way.

Quick guides provide a short introduction to complex or technical topics often as part of a series of guides to a subject.

Constituent factsheets outline and signpost sources of funding and information available to organisations and individual constituents.

Our blog InBrief to read or receive short, accessible research articles on topical issues.

What monitoring services do we provide?

We publish a range of monitoring services on our website.

Progress of Assembly Bills provides a continually updated summary of the progress of Assembly legislation with links to the relevant documents and further explanatory information including Bill Summary papers.

Legislative Consent Motions follows the progress of motions through which the Assembly can give or refuse permission for the UK Parliament to legislate on matters that are devolved.

Consent Motions follows the progress of motions through which the consent of the Assembly is sought by UK Government Ministers exercising order-making powers in devolved areas which are provided for by existing primary legislation.

Key Events in the Development of the National Assembly for Wales provides a timeline to key events in the development of the Assembly.

The National Assembly for Wales and Devolution in Wales: A Bibliography gathers together some of the most important works charting the evolution of the Assembly and devolution in Wales.

Library

The Library delivers high quality information, reference and monitoring services to Assembly Members, their staff and Assembly staff. It has a comfortable modern reading room and provides access to official publications, reference books, newspapers, periodicals and electronic resources.

EU Office

The EU Office is based in Wales House, Brussels in the heart of the EU quarter, alongside the Welsh Government and other Welsh representations. It provides specialist advice and information on EU issues; supports the Assembly representatives on the Committee of the Regions (and the Council of Europe); promotes the work and interests of the Assembly among EU decision makers and facilitates programmes for Assembly Members and staff delegations to Brussels.

How you can help us

We do not deal with enquiries from the public. However, we do welcome receipt or notification of publications in both printed and electronic format which may be of interest to Assembly Members and research staff.

We welcome comments about our publications and would be particularly interested to hear from researchers working in related fields of interest. We would also like to hear about conferences, seminars or other networking events which might be of interest to our researchers.

You can post or email your publications to us at the addresses listed on the inside cover of this booklet.
