Dear Natasha,

I am writing further to your recent written question regarding a potential railway station at Coedkernew.

The South East Wales Transport Commission (SEWTC) looked at a possible station at Coedkernew. This location was not supported by the SEWTC as it poorly serves bus access and residential sites. The SEWTC has instead recommended a new station at Newport West (which is to the east of Coedkernew) in their final recommendations, as it is adjacent to the A48 so provides better bus access and access to residential and employment sites.

Yours sincerely,

Lee Waters AS/MS
