Dear Russell

Thank you for your recent written question asking me to provide an update on the publication of the HIV action plan for Wales.

The development of an HIV Action Plan for Wales is a Programme for Government commitment, and our key mechanism to achieving the World Health Organisation's target to eliminate HIV by 2030. The draft plan was published in June 2022 for a three-month consultation, allowing everyone an opportunity to feedback and comment on the proposed actions. Since the autumn, officials have been analysing the responses and making improvements and additions to the plan to reflect the feedback received. In the coming weeks, officials will share the revised plan with the key stakeholders, including those living with HIV, who were instrumental in the plan's development. We hope to publish the final version shortly after.

Yours sincerely
