The amendments will mean that, in the first instance, the Member who wins the ballot will bring forward a motion to approve the principle of his/her proposed legislation. If the initial motion is approved, a Minister will produce a report on the feasibility of the proposals along with a recommendation. A debate on a second motion, on whether legislation should be brought forward to give effect to the proposals, will then be debated in Plenary. The Business Committee has agreed that there should be at least 24 ballots during the course of an Assembly.

31.1 The Presiding Officer shall from time to time hold a ballot to determine the name of a Member, other than a Minister, who may table an initial motion under this Standing Order. The Presiding Officer shall include in the ballot the names of all those Members who have applied to be included, except that no Member who has previously won the ballot in that Assembly may so apply. The successful Member shall table an initial motion within 20 working days of the date of the ballot.

31.2 An initial motion under Standing Order 31.1 shall:-

- (i) ask the Assembly to support in principle a proposal for legislation; and
- (ii) be accompanied by a statement of the legal powers under which the proposed legislation could be made and an indication of the resource implications of the proposal, together with such other material in amplification of the proposal as the Member making the proposal thinks fit.

31.3 Time shall be made available for the motion to be debated within 40 working days of the date of the ballot (not counting working days in a week when there is no Plenary meeting of the Assembly)

31.4 A proposal for legislation under this Standing Order may be for any legislation which may be made under Standing Orders 24, 25, 27, 28 or 29.

In preparing the report, the Minister shall consult with the Member making the proposal and any relevant Assembly Committee.

31.6 If either:-

(i) a second motion recommending that the Assembly should proceed with the proposal for legislation is agreed to; or

(ii) a second motion recommending that the Assembly should not proceed with the proposal is disagreed to.

a Minister shall within six months bring forward legislation to give effect to the proposal; and procedures appropriate under any of Standing Orders 24, 25, 27, 28 or 29 (as the case may be) to the making of that legislation shall be followed.
