Dear Andrew

Thank you for your recent written question asking which maternity services in Wales have met the minimum staffing levels set by Birthrate Plus for each of the last 12 months.

Birthrate Plus information is not routinely collected by the Welsh Government, although health boards may be asked periodically to present this information to inform oversight and assurance processes. This information would be available directly from individual health boards who have responsibility for collating this operational, workforce data.

Yours sincerely

Eluned Morgan AS/MS
