March 2019

Dear Mr Price,

Written Assembly Question: WAQ77740

You recently wrote to the First Minister with the following Written Assembly Question:

Will the First Minister outline the main changes to the structure of the Welsh Government's internal departments following the appointment of the new cabinet?

As this question relates to staffing in the Welsh Government, the First Minister has asked me to respond to you directly.

The internal structure of the Welsh Government is subject to regular review, to ensure that the departments are best able to continue to provide the necessary support for Ministers in achieving their business objectives. However, no immediate changes have been made following the appointment of the new cabinet. I will be discussing the departmental structures with Ministers and senior officials over the coming months to determine if there are any changes which are required in support of the new Cabinet.

Ysgrif,

Shan Morgan
