Dear Mabon,

I am writing to provide some clarification around some of the performance data that I shared during plenary yesterday in response to the discussions around hospital discharge delay performance.

During the discussion I referenced that reductions of total delays are down 17%, assessment waiting times are down 22%, and total days delayed is down 12%.

To confirm, in 2024/25 (March 2024 to March 2025) the Care Action Committee set out national trajectory targets for reductions of discharge delays and, supported by activity through the 50-day challenge, discharge delays reduced by 17%, assessment delays by 22%, and total days delayed by 12%, against the March 2024 baseline, with two of three Care Action Committee targets exceeded.
