Dear Andrew,

Thank you for your recent Written Questions asking how has the number of GP training places available in Wales changed over the past five years?

The GP specialty training programme has been significantly expanded over the past three years and since the launch of the Train Work Live campaign, there has been a significant increase in the fill rate for GP training. The current recruitment target of 160 new GP trainees each year is consistently being achieved.

Yours sincerely,

Eluned Morgan AS/MS
