Dear Sam,

I am writing in response to the written question; What funding or initiatives are in place to promote farm safety in the agricultural community? (WQ96959). I apologise for the delay in my response.

The Welsh Government has allocated £40,000 in the current financial year to promote good health and safety practices. This funding supports initiatives such as rural schools' campaigns, farm safety awareness roadshows, and a new television advertisement on ATV safety.

The Welsh Government remains committed to prioritising farm safety, with officials playing a leading role in the Wales Farm Safety Partnership. This partnership, which includes various agricultural stakeholder organisations across Wales, aims to reduce the number of accidents and fatalities on farms annually.

Farming Connect offers several farm safety initiatives, including one-to-one subsidised advice, free e-learning modules, and subsidised accredited training. Its mentoring programme provides farmers with targeted support on health and safety, helping them identify and mitigate on-farm risks and hazards.
