Dear Janet,

Thank you for your recent written question asking about enabling residents to view blood test results online.

Currently, where GPs feel the ability will be of benefit to patients and have enabled the functionality, test results that arrive back into GP systems are available for patients to view through the NHS Wales App. This includes all test requests that originated from the GP.

Additional functionality of the NHS Wales App is in development and will include test results from Hospitals and other healthcare providers. Officials are working with health boards and clinicians to make sure this is done in a way that is safe and benefits the patient.

The refreshed Digital and Data Strategy for Health and Social Care, when published, will provide a strategic framework that strengthens the Welsh commitment to future digital and data transformation.

Yours sincerely,
