Foreword

I am pleased to present the Senedd Commission's Official Languages Scheme for the Sixth Senedd. This is the third Scheme since the Official Languages Act was passed in 2012. Significant changes have been made in the 10 years since the Act was passed. The way in which we provide bilingual services has been completely transformed.

The Senedd is a fully bilingual organisation. Both official languages are treated equally and bilingual working is now the norm. The Coronavirus pandemic proved this to be true. The Senedd was one of the first legislatures on the international stage to move to virtual meetings whilst maintaining our usual high standards of bilingual working. From the very first virtual meeting, Members were able to participate in proceedings using the official language of their choice, with simultaneous translation available as usual on Zoom. Indeed, there has been an increase in the use of Welsh in the Senedd's proceedings as the Senedd has experimented with virtual and hybrid models of working; this is something to be built on. From the outset, the way in which our meetings were organised and conducted was testament to the progress made and the mindset which has now become embedded. The question is always how we can provide a bilingual service, rather than must we provide a bilingual service, with the emphasis on bilingualism by default.

It is important, however, not to rest on our laurels and the main aim of this Scheme is to ensure that we maintain the highest possible standards, and that we respond in a positive manner to the expectations of those who engage with us. The layout of this Scheme differs from its predecessors in response to feedback received over the years. We have tried to create a clearer document that is easier to use. We have combined the Scheme and the Bilingual Skills Strategy to create a single comprehensive document that makes it easier for our stakeholders to find information about our official languages. We have also made our service standards as clear as possible, to ensure that those who engage with the Senedd can clearly identify what is expected in terms of bilingual services.

To date, our work has focused on fulfilling our ambition to become a truly bilingual organisation. Along the way, we have benefited from the experiences and advice of organisations across Wales and beyond. We now feel that we can offer the same help and advice to others. The Senedd regularly engages with parliaments and legislatures around the world to help them establish, maintain and improve their democratic processes. Enabling individuals to participate in the democratic process – and to participate in the official language of their choice – is crucial to achieving true democracy. We will proactively seek ways to share our experiences and expertise by making use of our ties with organisations around the world, whilst still continuing to learn from others.

To achieve this, we rely on the dedication and support of Members of the Senedd and Senedd Commission staff. We are proud of the fact that Members of the Senedd regularly scrutinise our work in this area, and hold us to account by providing constructive feedback on an ongoing basis. Senedd Commission staff enable us to implement the Scheme, to respond to feedback and to ensure that we maintain the highest possible standards. We value every member of our staff – regardless of how bilingual they are – for their professional and parliamentary commitment and expertise.

The Senedd serves a diverse and multicultural nation, and the people of Wales expect to see their Senedd set the highest possible standards across all its services. The Senedd Commission is committed to ensuring that we are an organisation that is open to all. We will ensure that we support everyone through our bilingual services and give them the confidence to express their identity, which includes making use of their language skills, regardless of the level of those skills.

12. Skills Strategy

In accordance with the National Assembly for Wales (Official Languages) Act 2012, the Senedd Commission is required to set out its strategy for ensuring that staff have, collectively and across service areas, the language skills necessary to enable this Scheme to be implemented.

- 12.1 The Senedd Commission must gather information on the Welsh language skills of Senedd Commission staff to provide assurance that staff have the necessary skills to provide bilingual services.
- 12.2 The Senedd Commission must report on the Welsh language skill levels of Senedd Commission staff across the organisation at least once every Senedd.
- 12.3 Each individual service must maintain and update a service language plan, which sets out how the service will provide bilingual services of the highest quality.
- 12.4 Service language plans must include details of the language requirements of each post in the service.
- 12.5 When seeking consent to advertise a vacancy or new post, teams must provide the Executive Board with an assurance as to their capacity to provide bilingual services and confirm the Welsh language skills required for the post in accordance with the details set out in the service language plan.
- 12.6 The Senedd Commission must use a language skills matrix, which describes skill levels in relation to the Welsh language, to measure the organisation's bilingual capacity. Such a matrix must also be used during the recruitment process.
- 12.7 The job specification for each advertised post must include the level of Welsh language skill required, with Courtesy-level Welsh set as the basic skill level for any post.
- 12.8 The Senedd Commission must provide Welsh language skills training for Members and their staff.

THEMES FOR THE PERIOD
OF THIS SCHEME

Procurement

It is essential that any element of our work provided or delivered by a third party complies with the Scheme's requirements as well as users' expectations.

We will:

- ensure that all procurement plans refer to the requirements of the Official Languages Scheme and take these requirements into account;
- create an awareness-raising package aimed at anyone considering submitting a tender as part of a procurement plan, explaining our ethos as a bilingual organisation and what is meant by default bilingual provision;
- compile and apply a standard set of non-functional requirements for use on any systems or software procurement projects that will ensure that the ability to work bilingually is an integral element of a successful bid.

Language Skills

In order to provide outstanding bilingual services and maintain our reputation as a fully bilingual organisation, we need to ensure that our staff have the relevant skills.

We will:

- expand our Welsh language learning provision to include more courses and sessions tailored to specific teams, services or elements of the Senedd's work;
- expand our provision by developing online material for learners and Welsh speakers at all levels who wish to supplement their learning or are unable to learn in traditional classes;
- establish a Confidence Scheme for Welsh speakers who do not feel confident to use their skills as part of their work at the Senedd, providing tailored support to help them regain their confidence to use their Welsh language skills;
- undertake a Welsh language skills survey if this element cannot be incorporated into the HR system;
- Continue to offer a broad range of training to support Senedd Commission staff, Members of the Senedd and support staff who wish to improve their written English skills.

Recruitment

The language skills matrix approach to determining and assessing skill levels for jobs, is now well established. Over the course of the Fifth Senedd, the Official Languages Team gathered comments and made minor adjustments to processes. The Covid-19 pandemic has forced us to change many of our recruitment methods and has offered an opportunity to rethink our language skills processes.

This approach led to change within the organisation. The results of the language skills survey carried out in 2019 show that Senedd Commission staff are starting to become more familiar with the descriptions used in the language skills matrix. Language skills are seen as an integral part of the authorisation process before advertising vacant posts. The recruitment authorisation process involves checking the post's designated skill level against the relevant service's language plan, and considering whether it remains appropriate or needs to be changed.

To ensure that we maintain Welsh language skills levels across the organisation, and to maintain our current bilingual ethos, it is appropriate that we review the system to ensure that it remains fit for purpose.

Courtesy-level Welsh

We will:

- review the method of assessment and ensure that it is also suitable for virtual assessments;
- review the timing of the assessment within the recruitment process;
- review the Courtesy-level Welsh training module to ensure that it remains fit for purpose and includes more initial awareness training;
- review and update the Courtesy-level Welsh resources available to potential applicants on our website.

The Language Skills Matrix (levels 1-5)

We will:

- review the definitions in the language skills matrix to ensure that they are suitable for our organisation, and that the differences between each level are clear;
- work with the Recruitment Team to create resources and materials to help applicants understand the skills levels and assessment process;
- review the assessment process for level 1-3 posts in order to create more standardised assessments that can be carried out virtually;
- develop and deliver training modules similar to the Courtesy-level Welsh training for levels 1-3;
- consider creating resources for candidates to help them decide whether their language skills match the designated level for any post.

The organisation's bilingual ethos

The Senedd has a reputation as an organisation that operates bilingually and respects the individual's right to choose to use either official language, Welsh or English, as a default when engaging with us. However, it is important not to rest on our laurels, and we must continue to seek ways of maintaining the high standards expected by Members of the Senedd, their support staff and the people of Wales.

Awareness

It is vital that we ensure that Senedd Commission staff are aware of the requirements of the Official Languages Scheme and of our organisation's bilingual culture. The work of our Official Languages Coordinators is essential in this regard.

We will:

- review the content of the induction course for new Senedd Commission staff;
- update the awareness-raising video for Senedd Commission staff to ensure that it is suitable for the Sixth Senedd;
- update and expand our intranet pages to include advice and support on working bilingually and the requirements of this Scheme;
- hold events on significant occasions e.g. Shwmae – Su'mae Day and the Welsh Language Commissioner's Welsh Language Rights Day;
- regularly share messages about elements of the plan and best practice on the intranet.

Supporting Members and their support staff

We will:

- review the content of the induction course for support staff;
- offer Members of the Senedd a briefing session on the Official Languages Scheme, setting out their responsibilities under the Scheme;
- regularly review and update the information available on the Members' intranet;
- offer all Members of the Senedd a dedicated 'Buddy' who will be able to advise on all aspects of bilingual working.

Communication

Communication and engagement are important elements of our ethos as an organisation. We need to ensure that we always stand by the principles of this Scheme and respect the rights of Members of the Senedd, their support staff and the people of Wales in relation to our official languages.

We will:

- work with the Communications team to produce bilingual templates for the organisation's business, including PowerPoint presentations and publicity material;
- provide instructions and advice to Senedd Commission staff on bilingual communications;
- pilot and establish a system of recording the preferred official language of individuals who engage with us, and ensure that it complies with GDPR and data protection requirements;
- make use of any system introduced to record Members' official language of choice.

Use of Welsh language skills

Our statistics on the use of Welsh in proceedings show an increase in the percentage of contributions since the start of the Coronavirus pandemic. The experience of colleagues across Wales also reflects this. There are several possible reasons for this, including the fact that Welsh speakers and learners can feel more confident to use their skills when they contribute virtually, and the fact that those using a simultaneous translation service do not need to use headphones when they contribute virtually.

We will:

- consider how Members can be supported to continue to use their Welsh language skills confidently at meetings and events on the estate;
- look at ways of providing more manageable and user-friendly simultaneous translation equipment and technology;
- develop individual plans and provide tailored support to any Members who wish to feel more confident in using their Welsh language skills at proceedings or events;
- consider the information provided to witnesses taking part in proceedings in order to convey the fact that meetings will be held bilingually, and that Members will use both languages;
- consider the role of committee chairs in encouraging Members and witnesses to use both official languages;
- support Senedd Commission staff or Members' support staff who wish to make more use of their Welsh language skills in their work.

Learning and improvement

The Coronavirus pandemic has forced us as an organisation to make significant changes to the way we work, with little time to consider the consequences of those changes. It is important that we record the changes made and any impact they have had on the way we deliver our bilingual services.

We will:

- look at the advantages and disadvantages of virtual meetings and events in terms of the use of both official languages;
- consider any research published by other bodies on the impact of the pandemic on either official language to see if there are recommendations we can adopt;
- consider what elements of the provision can be retained as we move back to a more normal situation including holding meetings and events on the estate, or in hybrid form;
- share our experiences of providing bilingual services during the pandemic with others.
